

Erasmus Student Network (ESN) is present in more than 430 Higher Education Institutions from 37 countries, making it the largest student association in Europe. The network currently has 13,500 active members who function as “buddies” who taking care of international students. ESN works towards a more mobile and flexible education environment by supporting and developing student exchanges and also providing an intercultural experience to those students who are unable to study abroad.

Volunteering Opportunities: ESN is seeking student volunteers interested in being “buddies” to international students who are on exchange in Macedonia. Buddies provide assistance with administrative tasks (related to class registration and other university related details), logistics (helping the international student find a place to live, assistance with transportation options), and other pertinent information about life in Macedonia.
